

The green sections will be erased:

- They pass through the red box
- or they are at one end of the stroke and they go towards the red box

This makes for a quite natural UX when the padding is a bit less than half the stroke's width